CAFETERIA

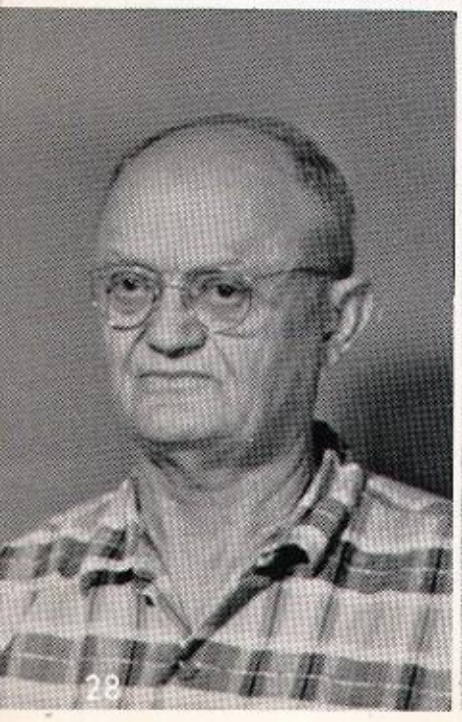
This year climaxes a long career at Katy High for Mrs. Lottie "Grandma", DeVol. Since coming here in 1944, Grandma has supervised all lunchroom operations. Her services have also included heading numerous banquets, including Athletic Banquets, FFA banquets, and seventeen Junior-Senior banquets. Grandma plans to leave Katy. With her she will take the warmest of hearts, and a sincere interest in young people. To the thousands of students who have known her, Mrs. DeVol will always be remembered as "Grandma."

Mrs. DeVol

Under the supervision of Mrs. DeVol, these ladies faithfully provide the nourishment so necessary to the upkeep of a group of healthy, rowdy students. Left to right, they are Mrs. Johnnie Braun, Mrs. Ervin Johnson, Mrs. Steve Haczynski, Mrs. Rose Lee Uloth, Mrs. Frank Barton, and Mrs. Alvin Herzog.

MAINTENANCE

These gentlemen are the ones who so capably maintain our beautiful school premises, and who keep the wheels of the school turning. Left to right, they are Charles Ince, John McDonald, Edgar Schroeder, L. M. Dufner, Edward Schroeder, Clarence Wooding, Clark Wilkinson, and Ernest Smith.



Of all the constructive contributions to our school atmosphere, Mr. and Mrs. Finke's are probably most noticeable. They have completed seventeen years of keeping our school buildings as neat, and as environmentally pleasing as possible. Mrs. Finke's floral arrangements provide the school buildings with much added beauty.

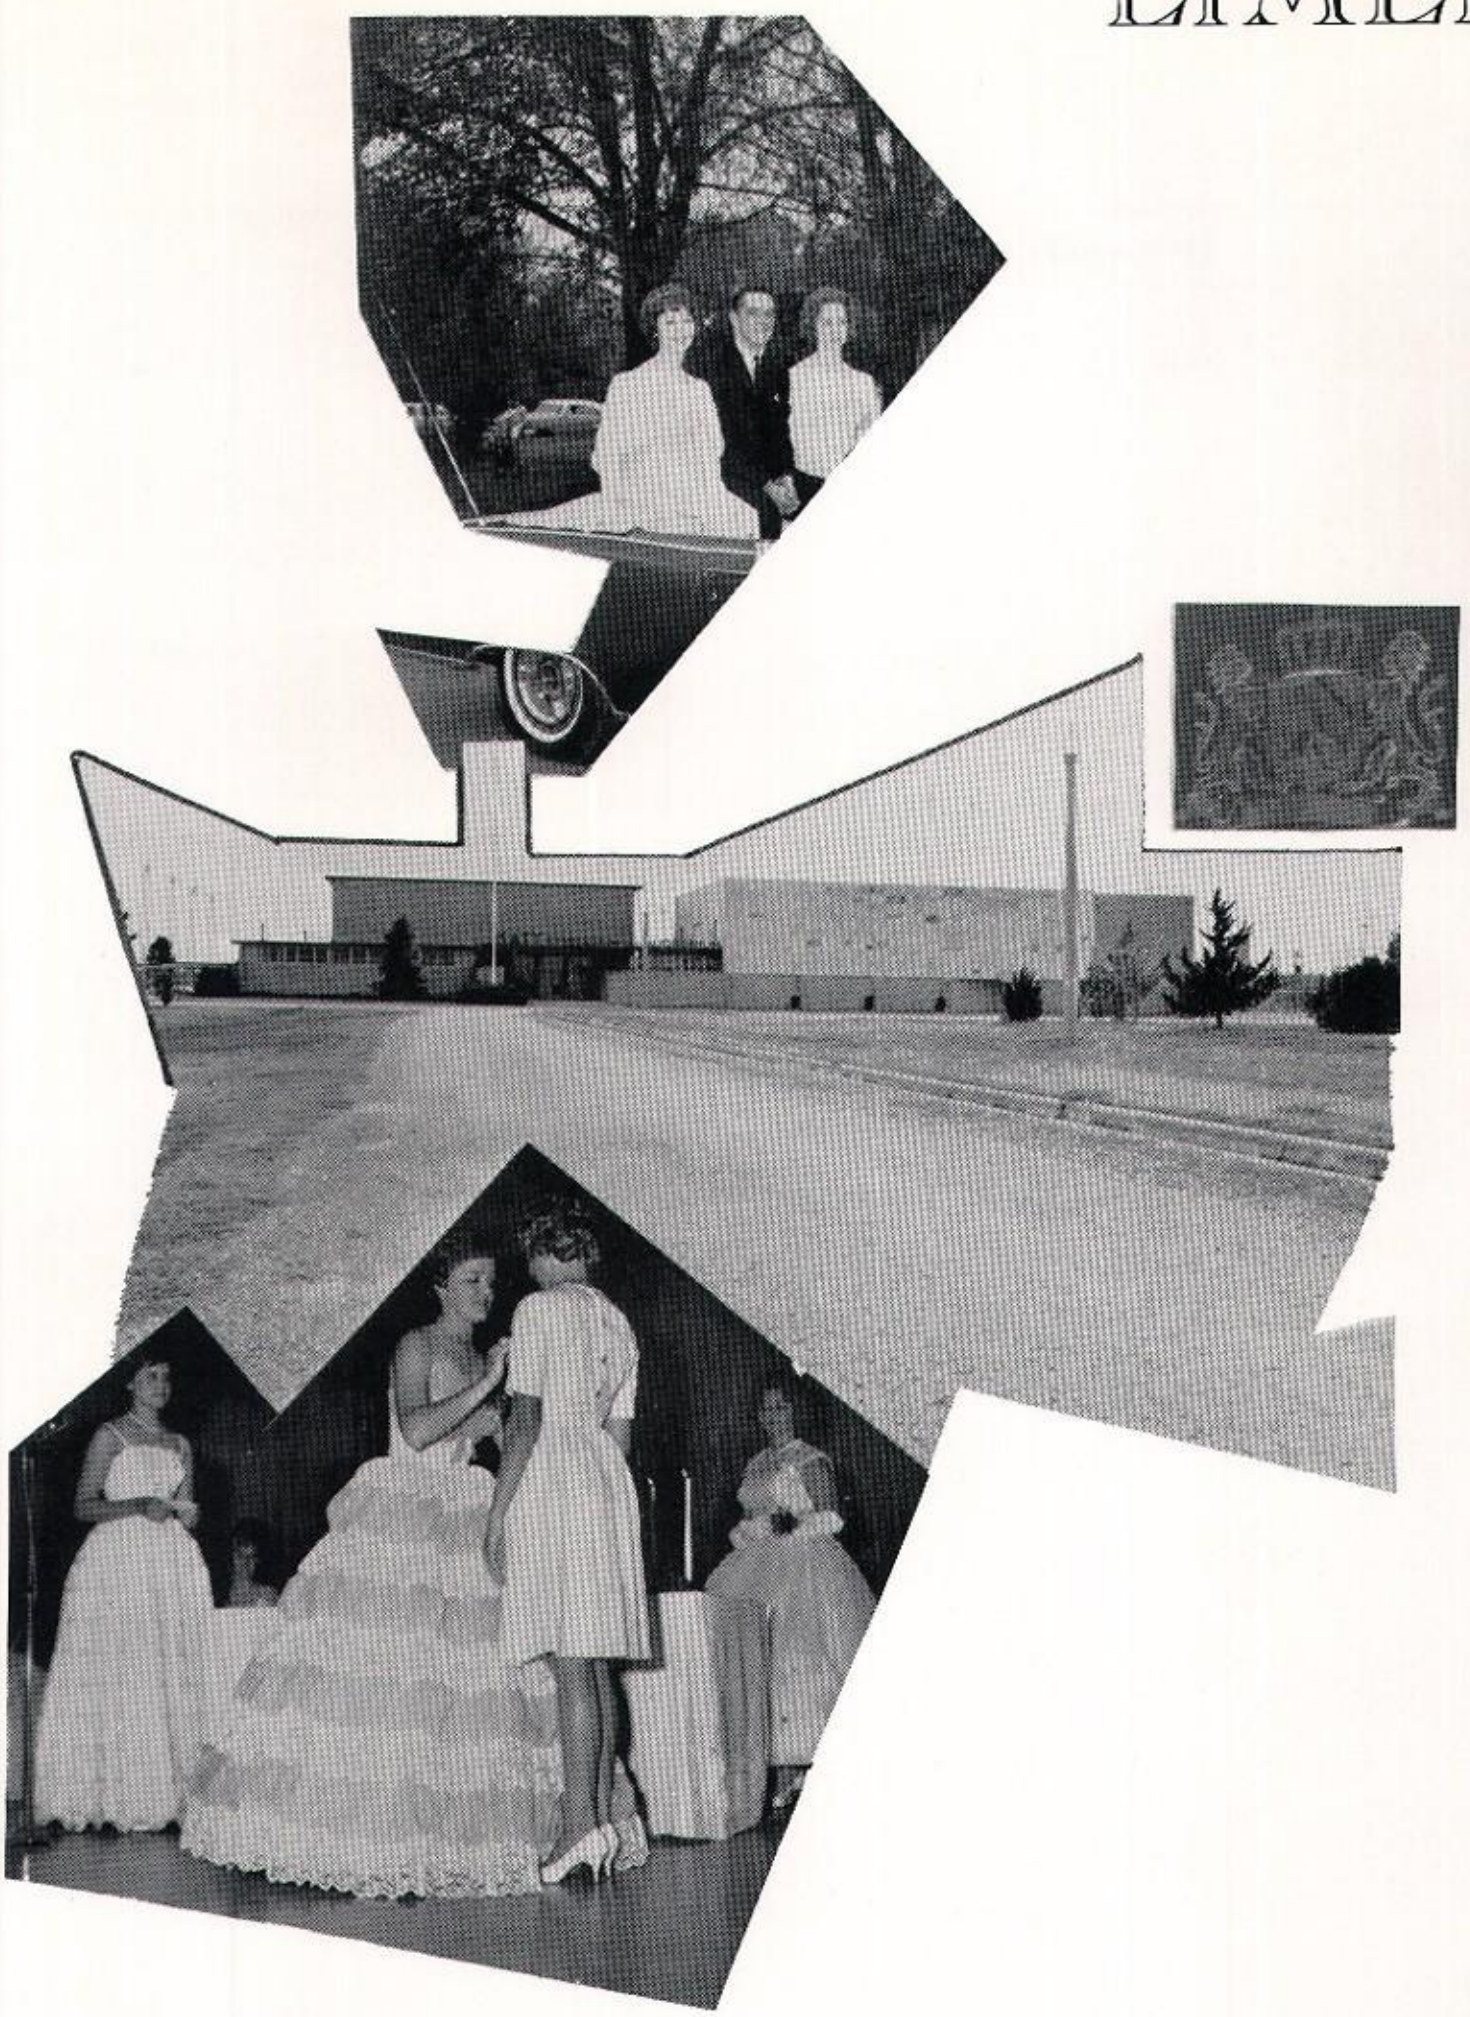
LIMELIGHTS



A.F.S. STUDENT

To live in the United States offers a great challenge to many native Americans. The challenge met more than its match, however, in Frederico Fuhrmeister, foreign exchange student from Sao Leopoldo, Brazil. Since coming here in August, 1963, Freddy, as he is known around school, has been a participant in almost everything which bears any resemblance to activity, both at school and locally. Not only has Freddy shown his unusual ability to adapt, but he has given the Katy student body many lasting impressions of Brazil. The many friendships which Freddy has made are symbolic of the sharing experiences so vital to international collaboration, understanding, and good will.

FREDERICO EDWINO FUHRMEISTER

In addition to showing one of Freddy's newly acquired fads, being a cowboy, this scene credits the American Field Service, the agency which makes foreign exchange possible.

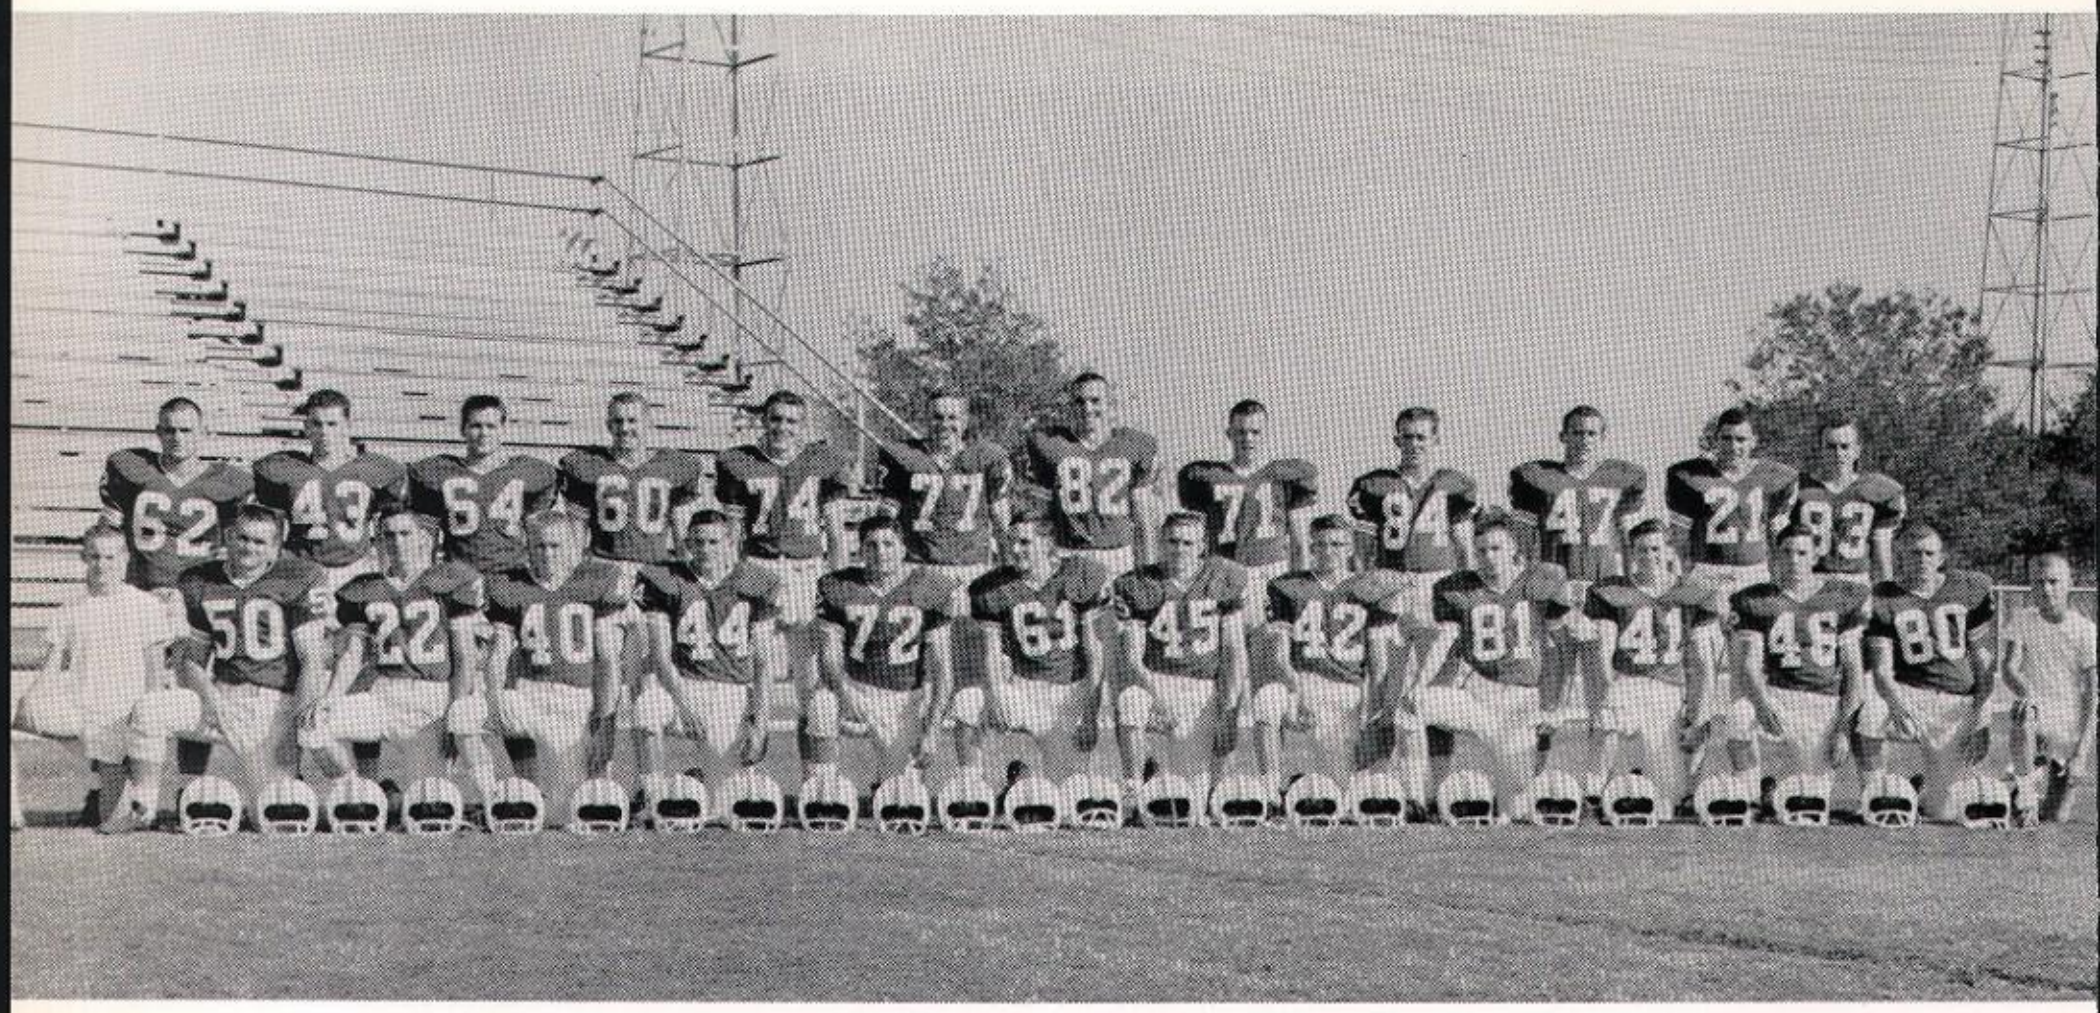
FOOTBALL



"A" TEAM

The 1963 Katy Tigers, a team with much desire to win, established one of the most impressive records in the school's history. The Tigers knew they had the ability to have a good season, so they wasted no time in organizing their club into one with skill and stamina. In non-district play the Tigers met and defeated such stalwarts as Waller, Dulles, and Humble. The Tigers kept a clean record through district play although they were closely contested by Columbus and Sealy. Katy took a clear decision over Livingston in the Bi-district playoff which entitled them to advance to Regional. The great desire and determination the Tigers displayed throughout their previous victories was not enough to match the powerful foe from Liberty. Liberty, relying upon their tremendous size and speed, took advantage of the situation and eliminated the States' number 2 ranked team by a score of 26-6.

BASKETBALL

VARSITY

Pictured is the most successful basketball team in Katy history. The success enjoyed by this group of cagers sprang from the desire to excel, hard work, and the major contributions of talent by each player.

Some of their accomplishments are winning the first district championship in nine years, scoring 1759 points in 27 games for a record average of 65 points per game, and bringing home first place trophies from the Katy and Humble tournaments and a third place trophy from Clear Creek.

Four fine members of this squad close out their careers this year. All-state John Rhodes, the highest scorer and best rebounder in school history, completes four outstanding years of leadership in Tiger basketball. Don Thurman, a classy ball-handler and floor general, along with Tiger mainstays Mike Newman and Mike Pederson, complete their fine careers.

Birthdays for the "fascinating fives" are most important. The birthday child is the center of attention as he sits in a special chair while we sing to him and play games accompanied by the record player. A large birthday cake by Hallmark is produced at the proper time, and a wish is made as we blow our pretend candles out.

In May we have a birthday train with cars named for the months of the year. Each child rides in the car of his birthday. The kindergarten tree is decorated with the spring flowers and candles, and we celebrate all the birthdays that occur during the vacation months.

Valentine's Day was a time of playing post office. Each pupil experienced working with numbers. Each Valentine was numbered and each box was numbered. Each "postman" mailed his Valentines in the numbered boxes. Each pupil decorated his own mail box.

KINDERGARTEN

The circus unit promotes interest and creativity among the five-year olds. The children add names of clowns to a list, draw pictures of clowns, listen to stories of the circus, learn about the animals, and enjoy the clown balancing his unicycle on the high tight wire. We built the Big Top by using an umbrella as a foundation, and the children brought various stuffed animals from home to add to the circus parade. We trotted like horses, walked like elephants, danced like bears, and tumbled like clowns.

Since the first day of school the boys and girls in Mrs. Jurek's room feel that they have grown in many ways. Yes, they are taller, but they also feel that they have gained skills in reading, writing, and arithmetic.

It's been a busy and exciting year for all of them. We have especially been excited about the new "I can read" library books. Seeing snowflakes from the windows was an unusual sight. With the help of the room mother the Christmas and Easter parties were fun for all.

Our room enjoyed the Christmas party as well as other special treats given by the room mothers of whom Mrs. Hal Cardiff was the room mother chairman.

Other highlights were keeping a weather chart for the month of February; having arithmetic contests between the "parrots" and "canaries;" doing dramatizations of favorite stories; making experiments with plants, and doing special projects with our social studies units.

We have been busy this year learning to read, doing cursive writing, making a compass, and writing letters. The new arithmetic that we have tried seems to be just a game.

The P.T.A. program was fun and so were the parties that our room mothers gave us. We all have hopes of being in the third grade next year.

This has been a busy year of discovering and learning new things together. Science activities have been numerous and helpful. Learning our new concepts in arithmetic has kept us on our toes. New library books have made our year pleasant.

We have had fun with our Special Days activities and in our team play in P.E. Our field trip to Houston is our culminating activity.

We have many interesting studies in the third grade; but perhaps the most interesting this year has been Our Texas Unit. Part of our study has been done by committees working on different phases of the work. The culminating activity was a poster or bulletin board display. The individual project was a booklet.

We have also enjoyed doing selected pages from the "New Math" program.

In our section there are ten boys and eight girls.

In February the fourth grade made mosaics of colored rice. Everyone did a sea picture and a bird. They were put in the showcase.

In March, the children had a six page report on one of the Presidents in the past.

For Christmas each one of the children did a colored chalk picture which they all enjoyed.

About once a week they had a stand-up spelling test to see who could stand up the longest. When someone missed a word they had to sit down.

We do a number of interesting things in our room, especially in geography and science. But this year the thing that interested the children most was the discovery that new plants can be started in several ways other than by planting seeds.

We have raised several Irish potato plants in a window box and they have produced several small potatoes. We have set out a sweet potato slip and are hoping it will show signs of producing before school is out.

Special activities in arithmetic have created a new challenge in the field of mathematics. Guess who in history, skits in reading, and races in arithmetic are considered highlights of any day's work.

MRS. R. W. LEGGETT
B.S., University of

M.Ed., University of Houston

This has been a wonderful year in Mrs. Leggett's fifth grade with eager, enthusiastic pupils exploring new fields of learning or delving deeper into old ones.

Besides the usual rote matters of learning, there have been many eye-opening, simple experiments in science, colorful characters of history to portray in special reports or "skits," and challenging, new methods of approach in mathematics. "Special" days provided opportunity for unusual and colorful art.

Some students participated wholeheartedly in Interscholastic League competition and acquitted themselves admirably.

Jeana Ruland and Sue Moebes won 2nd in spelling as a team. Jeana's paper received 100%.

We enjoyed a lovely Christmas party given by our room mothers, and we are looking forward to another party before the Easter holidays.

Twenty-one visitors came to visit us during Public School Week. We entertained them by giving our science reports on "Space" and our social studies reports on "India." We also did arithmetic races while some of the guests were here.

We have enjoyed our T.V. classes this year on the new math which we called "Arithmetic Fun." We also watched some science shows.

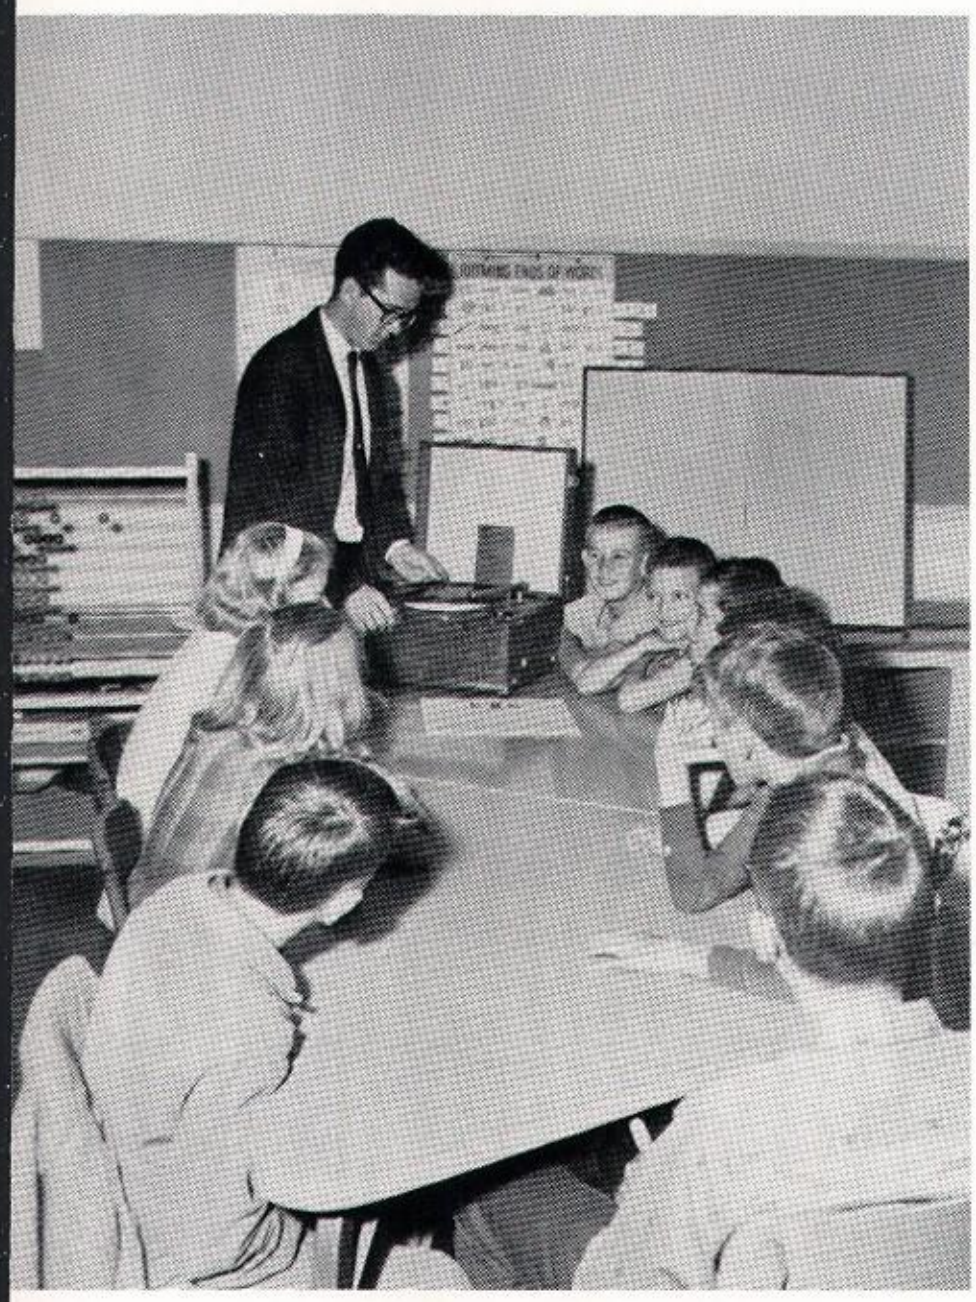
SPECIAL EDUCATION

During the 1963-64 school year the emphasis was, as always, on the child as an individual; not on the children as a group. Each child is taught as a separate individual since each child has different problems.

The kite project was given in order to show the child the practical use of a rule. The child had to use the rule to measure the string, sticks and covering of the kite.



The calendar project enabled each child to make a calendar whereby he could see the arrangement of the days of the week and thus develop a greater interest in the order of days, weeks and months.

In projects such as these the children showed more interest and learned more than from ordinary classroom techniques.
